Elba Masonic Lodge gifts historical marker to City of Elba

The Elba Masonic Lodge #170 gifted an Alabama Historical Marker to the City of Elba during a ceremony held Saturday, Feb. 13, in Elba.

"The purpose of the marker was to not only honor our founding brothers but also to help support the city in an effort to revitalize and record the history of the downtown area [of Elba]," said Elba Lodge Worshipful Master Ed Kelley. "It also marks a renewed commitment from our lodge to the community as a charitable organization."

Masons from across the state visited Elba on Saturday for this event, and they participated in the ceremonies including a 'Parade of Masons' from the Coffee County Courthouse to the educational building of Elba United Methodist Church where a dedication program was held prior to the unveiling of the new historical marker.

The marker is located at the corner of Davis Street and Claxton Avenue in downtown Elba [across the street from the Elba United Methodist Church].

Elba Mayor Tom Maddox accepted the gift on behalf of the city from the Elba Masons.

The text of the historical marker reads as follows: 150 yards south of this site, John B. Simmons built the first Masonic Hall in Coffee County. On December 17, 1851, the Grand Lodge of Alabama issued a dispensation to nine Coffee County men to form a lodge in the town of Bentonville to be known as Elba Lodge #170. At the first meeting held on Friday, February 13, 1852, a committee was appointed to obtain property for the use of the lodge. The hall was a two-story building used for Masonic business. The first person to become a Master Mason in Elba Lodge #170 was William

Cuzin Lou Lou's
Tales from Yonder

Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's tales are to be enjoyed as a light-hearted form of Southern expression

Lou Lou went on a shopping adventure with Papa last weekend. He wanted to go visit some of his more favorite browsing spots.

Sister opted to stay home for this trip. She and Papa have completely different shopping styles, and she decided extra time in bed on a Saturday morning would best for her. However, she got her own shopping in later in the day!

The Papa-Lou Lou adventure began with a stop at an always-favorite breakfast diner. This was a pretty clear-cut stop with both getting two eggs scrambled, bacon, toast and hash browns for their morning fuel. Turns out, though, that Papa was a bit confused over Lou Lou's conversation with the waitress regarding jelly for the toast.

Lou Lou is a big fan of mixed fruit jelly, which is difficult to find, but this diner offers it as an option. The waitress asked if Lou Lou and Papa had a "fav" for their jelly, and Lou Lou immediately requested mixed fruit. Papa didn't respond so he got mixed fruit too, per Lou Lou's request.

Turns out that Papa didn't realize the conversation was about jelly – thus his confused look when Lou Lou spoke up for him. He must've been giving the waitress his "hear what he wants to hear" ears when she asked about the jelly.

Lou Lou figured out this after the food was delivered to the table, and Papa started questioning where that mixed fruit was that she and the waitress had discussed. Lou Lou had to explain that the mixed fruit was the jelly in front of him that he was spreading on his toast!

An "oh, okay" later, and breakfast was a huge success.

The next stop was at a store that Papa had a gift card to redeem from Christmas.

The two entered the store, and Lou Lou ventured off to browse around while Papa shopped for something to purchase with his gift card.

In less than two minutes, Lou Lou was reminded she was shopping with a different creature than Sister... her phone began ringing, and she noticed it was Papa calling!

"Where are you?" he wanted to know.

Turns out, Papa did not see Lou Lou venture her own way, and he wanted her shopping alongside him.

"I'm headed your way," she told him after coming to this realization.

The two had only been in the store a short time when Lou Lou noticed Papa was filling his buggy mostly with food items – junk food items to be more precise. She had to ask.

"Papa, your gift card was meant for you to purchase something you wanted or needed," she said.

"Well, I like to eat," he replied. "So, I am buying things I want to eat!"

Lou Lou could not argue with that!

The rest of the shopping adventure went pretty much the same...if Lou Lou ventured away from Papa, he called wanting to know where she was, which resulted in her returning to his location.

Truth be told...Lou Lou had a blast shopping with Papa. She likes the stores he likes pretty well herself, so, it was fun. And, she would not trade the time she spent with Papa for anything in the world.

Sister did check in on Lou Lou and Papa a couple of times while they were out shopping...Lou Lou is convinced it was to make sure the two were staying out of trouble!

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

A Message from Elba Mayor Tom Maddox regarding the Elba Masonic Lodge historical marker...

Thanks to Elba Masonic Lodge #170 for presenting a new historic marker to the City of Elba and thanks to the Masons, past and present for their contributions to the history of our city. Thanks to Ed Kelley for his efforts to make the marker a reality and for his organizing the event for it's unveiling.

We can also be proud of Tommy Morrow who is the Grand Master for the State of Alabama. He travels all over the state visiting different Masonic lodges and is always promoting Elba wherever he goes.

Masons from as far away as the Haleyville area in northwest Alabama were present for the impressive ceremony.

This makes a total of five historic markers for our downtown.

This Alabama Historical Marker was unveiled Saturday, Feb. 13, in downtown Elba during a ceremony hosted by the Elba Masonic Lodge #170. According to Elba Mayor Tom Maddox this is now the fifth historical marker in Elba.

Elba's Tommy Morrow is serving this year as the Grand Master for the Masons organization in the State of Alabama. On Saturday, Feb. 13, Morrow joined Elba Masonic Lodge Worshipful Master Ed Kelley in unveiling the historical marker for the Lodge that is now permanently located in downtown Elba.

Mass COVID-19 vaccination clinics succeed in immunizing eligible people across state

Mass vaccination clinics operated last week by selected hospitals in each of the eight public health districts throughout the state reached large numbers of persons eligible for COVID-19 vaccine.

The success of these clinics was a direct result of ongoing collaboration by a number of community partners including county emergency management agencies, public officials and the Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH).

Through the efforts of many hardworking volunteers and healthcare providers, at least 105,000 to 110,000 doses of COVID-19 vaccine per week were administered in Alabama over the past three weeks. All the vaccine the state receives, both first and second doses, is being administered. Second doses for those vaccinated in last week's clinics were given through the same process beginning 21 or 28 days from administration of the first doses, depending on the vaccine.

Start planning now for Spring gardens

While experiencing the cold winter weather, one of the many things people look forward to are the luscious spring gardens. It is never too early to start planning.

Now is the time for gardeners to begin prepping their gardens for the spring growing season.

Getting Started
Before taking any steps toward growing a spring garden, it is essential to first remove all the plants and weeds from the previous season. Starting from a clean slate will give the garden a clean, organized appearance, as well as healthy, fresh soil.

The most important step when beginning to prep a garden is to conduct a soil test. Based on the results of the soil test, gardeners may have to add nutrients to adjust the pH of the soil in order for it to best suit the plants. Soil that is overly acidic may be harmful to some plants. It is important to keep a constant eye on soil pH levels to ensure they remain within the 6 to 7 range.

"You might want to plant a cover crop if you have poor soil," said Rhonda Britton, an Alabama Cooperative Extension System home grounds, gardens and home pests regional agent "This will help build up organic matter in the soil."

Also, it is important to determine whether the proposed garden plot receives at least six hours of full sunlight. Without the adequate amount of sunlight, the plants would not be able to thrive.

Plan Out the Garden

To have a successful spring garden, Britton suggests keeping a notebook for gardeners to plan what they are going to plant. In the same notebook, people can plan the potential layout, dates and times for planting. Getting ahead and staying on top of a gardening routine will ensure a successful, flourishing garden.

Britton said at the beginning of the planning process, it is important for people to decide whether they want to buy transplants or plant their own seeds inside, starting in the winter.

"Some plants, such as squash, cucumber, corn and beans, do better with direct seeding," Britton said. "Plants that do better as transplants are tomatoes and peppers."

If people plan to plant seeds, they should begin searching through seed catalogs now to purchase their desired seed. Having the plants or seed planned out before the spring season will allow for a quick and efficient growing season.

Regional Conditions
Lastly, depending on the region, it is important to identify and keep note of the different weather conditions. For example, depending on where gardeners live in Alabama, certain areas can begin planting before others. The warm temperatures in south Alabama would allow people to begin planting much sooner than the cooler temperatures in north Alabama do.

Britton recommends downloading the Alabama Extension SOW app. This application includes recommended dates for planting based on the region or county the person is located in. Knowing the specific conditions for the area is crucial for a long-lasting spring garden season. Visit the Alabama Extension content piece SOW-A Planting Companion for more information on downloading the SOW app.

More Information
With the dull colors and cold weather dragging on, it is thrilling to get to plan for the warm, bright colors of the season to come. Don't let the winter blues get you down; start planning for your spring garden before you're too late. For more information on planning for spring gardens or other topics, visit the Alabama Extension website, www.aces.edu, or contact the Coffee County Extension office at (334) 894-5596.

Grief Without Guilt: It's Not Your Fault
Grief carries with it a multitude of conflicting emotions - and one of the most overpowering is the feeling of guilt. Those who have lost a loved one often find themselves struggling with the idea their loss is somehow their own fault - that there's something they could have said or done to prevent their loved one from dying.
Sometimes, feelings of grief can be situated in something real. All of us make mistakes, and we can say or do things that hurt the people we love. The feelings of guilt you experience during the mourning process may stem from a memory of mistakes you made in the past.
Just as often, though, feelings of guilt are less rational: As you grieve, you may talk yourself into the notion that you could have been there for your loved one or could have helped them receive a different kind of medical care.
The bottom line is that guilt and grief go hand in hand - but what can you do about it? The first step is simply acknowledging the way you feel; guilt is an emotion, and the best way to handle any emotion is to first validate it.
Consider what your guilt is really about. Reflect on the idea that we all crave order, and your guilt may simply be a subconscious way to make some sense of your loved one's death. Find someone you can talk to about your feelings of guilt; this may be a close friend or it may be a therapist. As you think, talk, and process, work your way toward a place of self-forgiveness.
If your guilt is irrational, you will hopefully have people in your life who will tell you so, encouraging you to move on. And if it's based in something real, you can seek a place where you either make amends or discover a new perspective - learning and growing from your painful experience.

PASTOR'S CORNER

by Dwight Johnson, Lead Pastor

Elba First Assembly of God • 1320 Highland Drive

My wife was very proud of me last week. I was able to take some salvaged wood from a very old house that was torn down, and after lots of measuring, cutting, sanding, and finishing, give her a "new" TV table. But, the thanks should really go to Mr. Leverette.

I don't even remember Mr. Leverette's first name. He was my ninth grade Shop Class (it might have been called Vocational Education) teacher. We spent a few weeks on welding, a few on brick laying, a few on agriculture, etc. But, the unit that really stood out to me was carpentry.

Mr. Leverette introduced the class to some basic tools, and guided us as we all built a simple gun rack. I'd like to say that carpentry became a lifelong hobby, but instead, it was more of an interest. Only in recent years have I had the opportunity to develop my interest. But, the seed was planted long ago by Mr. Leverette.

The Bible has much to say about sowing and reaping; planting and harvest. There are far more scriptures than can be explored here, but I urge you to study this subject. Let me say this, however: Continue to plant your seed. Invest in someone's life; work toward your dream. Delayed results can be disappointing.

We might feel that our labor was in vain. But, the seed hasn't died. In time, it will germinate, and harvest will come.

Thanks, Mr. Leverette.

Celebrating Black History Month

Honoring the Late Marian Anderson

2/27/1897 - 4/8/1993

Marian Anderson, Negro Contralto, was born in Philadelphia, PA. As early as her high school days her beautiful voice began to attract attention, and a fund raised by means of a church concert started her on a long period of study. In 1925, she won a competition in which three hundred singers took part; the award was an appearance with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. The National Association of Negro Musicians gave her a scholarship to continue her study of music, and later she spent two years working and singing in Europe. When she appeared in concert tours in the United States, audiences were delighted with the rich warmth of her voice and her fine musicianship. She married in 1935 and settled in Connecticut, but she continued her career as one of the great contraltos of her time.

Keeping a Promise to Mom

FIVE DAUGHTERS KEEP PROMISE TO THEIR MOTHER...The daughter of Welcom and Lena Farris made a promise to their mother that they would keep in touch by 'getting together' with one another. Their dad, Welcom, died in 1978, and their mom, Lena, died in 2004. The family lived on a farm 15 miles south of Elba. The sisters are Jo Pugh, Sarah Williamson, Mary Heiss, Roseland Knowles, and Johnnie Sue Stewart. They also had two brothers — one died in a car accident and the other was stillborn. Holding true to their promise to their mom, the sisters began gathering in 2006 at Jo's home, and they spend a week together each summer. Among their many activities each year during the week-long gathering is a visit to family cemeteries at Bethlehem Church in Elba and Pine Level. Above, the sisters are shown posing for a photo taken this past July (2020) in front of the church they grew up in — Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church near Elba. Standing left to right: Jo Pugh, Sarah Williamson, Mary Heiss, Roseland Knowles, and Johnnie Stewart.

Coffee County EMA Director James Brown spoke with Elba Rotary Club members at the Tuesday, Feb. 9, meeting. He shared an update on COVID-19 cases in the state, along with vaccination plans in our local area. Brown (at left) is pictured with Club President Ken Wilson.

Spring enrollment strong at Enterprise State Community College

Enterprise State Community College saw another increase for the spring semester thanks to the College's adapted communication efforts with students and student support services.

Dean of Students Kassie Mathis attributed this success to the College "consistently making the necessary accommodations to retain our current students and to provide our new students with what they need to be successful."

These accommodations, according to Mathis, included the continuation of virtual advising, the growth of the College's laptop loaner program and the increase in virtual and over-the-phone communication to students. One example of this communication effort was the over 500 calls made by recruiters prior to the start of the spring semester.

"Our recruiters set a goal to contact 300 students in three days," Mathis said. "They more than exceeded that goal by making 572 texts, calls, and emails and actually speaking with 279 prospective students. This type of dedication to the success of students is what sets us apart and allows us to see continued success during such a difficult time."

Much like the Fall 2020 semester at ESCC, students had more virtual and hybrid class offerings during the spring semester; however, some additional on-campus class options were available. At the Alabama Aviation College, a unit of Enterprise State, students are continuing to follow staggered schedules and a modified block system.

Whether students are taking classes online or on campus, they are still receiving the support they need to be successful, according to Vice President/Dean of Instruction Danny Long.

"The last few semesters have certainly proven challenging for our students, faculty and staff at Enterprise State Community College; however, our enrollment is strong and our students have demonstrated equitable success rates in comparison to non-COVID semesters," Long said. "None of this would be possible without the collective effort demonstrated by our faculty and staff from Student Services. Our faculty continue to demonstrate compassion and empathy for the unforeseen variables that the pandemic has created for students, and our student support services are there to keep them engaged in the learning process."

Echoing Mathis and Long, ESCC President Matt Rodgers said teamwork and dedication to the students were the College's keys to success.

"We recognized that many people are still going through difficult times, so we all stepped up to make sure we did everything we could to remove obstacles preventing anyone from continuing their education or training," Rodgers said. "We also adapted our methods of communication and took additional steps to meet our students' needs before the start of the semester, like having additional hours to assist students with registration prior to the start of classes."

"Our success depends on our students' success, and I am thankful for the great team we have here. Every administration, faculty and staff member is determined to help our students succeed during this time, and everyone works together to make great things happen here at the College."

Planning is already underway for summer and fall. While schedules are being finalized, students who are planning to attend the College in the fall can take steps to prepare now.

Students can complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), which connects students with federal dollars to help pay for college. When completing the FAFSA at studentaid.gov, use school code 001015 for ESCC/AAC. More information is available at escc.edu/financialaid.

Scholarships are also available. The College offers athletic, fine arts, leadership, academic, and career and technical scholarships. Scholarships are also available through the ESCC Foundation. More information can be found at escc.edu/scholarships. The deadline to apply for scholarships is March 1.

For individuals who have not applied to ESCC, they can visit escc.edu/admissions to find the College's free application or call (334) 347-2623 with any questions they may have. They can also learn more about the College's programs and facilities by taking a virtual tour at tour.escc.edu. For more questions, college recruiters can be contacted at escc.edu/meet-our-recruiters.

"Thank you to our students for choosing us," Rodgers said. "We are happy that you decided to join us, and we are here to help you succeed. For those who are still thinking about your future, we would be happy to show you how you can take the first step toward your future with us. Don't hesitate to reach out."

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Our grandson Lawson made the most of a trip to Enterprise one afternoon last week and declared McDonald's "has the best chicken nuggets in the world," but the highlight of the visit was the Pokémon cards in his kid's meal. He did eat the nuggets and fries, and even drank milk, but nothing even came close to the cards.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers saw their season draw to a merciful conclusion last week with only two wins as they lost in the opening round of the area tournament. The Tigers won only three games last year and most Elba fans thought it couldn't get any worse, but it did, and over the last two seasons the only wins on their side of the ledger came over New Brockton (2), Kinston (2) and Zion Chapel (1). The Tigers three straight trips to the 'Final Four' now seem like just a distant memory, as Elba basketball has definitely hit hard times. Never fear, payback will be fun!

 The Elba Lady Tigers lost in the area finals to G.W. Long after an opening round win over Arton, but still punched their tickets to the sub-region round to keep their region tourney hopes alive. The Elba girls have played without the services of at least two starters for over a month due to suspensions and Covid quarantines, but they have never made excuses and never backed down. The season may very well be one that will be remembered for what could have been. However, many teams across the state feel the same way, and my guess is the Lady Tigers will use the ups and downs as a lesson that will lead to future success.

 The post-season wasn't kind to area teams as only the Kinston Bulldogs managed to punch a ticket to sub-region play. The Bulldogs claimed a narrow win over Red Level to advance to the area finals, and while they did fall in the finals, they had already clinched a sub-region berth. The biggest surprise in the post-season was the fact the Brantley Bulldogs and Brantley Lady Bulldogs were both eliminated in the opening round of the area tournament. The Bulldogs were rolling along undefeated at midseason, but got derailed by Covid quarantines and never recovered, while the Lady Bulldogs were also hit by the pandemic and barely even had enough players left to finish the season. All the area teams did make it to the finish line, but I'm sure everyone will admit it was a season like no other.

 The Alabama High School Athletic Association published its monthly newsletter last week and an article that caught my eye was one that stated participation in fall and winter sports in the state had actually increased, despite the complications caused by Covid-19. While the numbers in football did go down by a slight two percent, they still showed that 31,113 student-athletes took to the football field, which is a lot of folks! The numbers in volleyball were up 5.9% to 11,433 and cheerleading also went up by 4.2% to 8,292. All the numbers in winter sports were up, with boys' basketball going up by 1.6% to 13,942, girls' basketball going up by 2.7% to 8,785, and wrestling reporting a 3.2% increase to 3,557. It was great to see the numbers go up as those in the state and across the nation try to get back to normal and live their lives.

 I didn't watch one single play of the Super Bowl and obviously didn't hold or attend a Super Bowl party. However, I guess I was in the minority since I read that almost 1.5 million chicken wings were eaten the day of the game and the nation's grocery stores reported sales of over $3 million of chicken wings in the days leading up to the game. Not to be outdone, those who like pizza also enjoyed the game and the food, as 12.5 million pizzas were either delivered or sold on the day of the game. I haven't looked at the sales of adult beverages, but it has to be pretty high just to wash down all the food!

 In closing.... My wife and I both got our first vaccine shots last week and are looking forward to the second dose in our continuing attempt to avoid the dreaded virus that has played a part in the deaths of millions across the globe. I know many of our friends have chosen not to become vaccinated; however, I can remember how vaccines wiped out polio and smallpox, and have to believe this one will work, also.

50-49 over Arton

Late free throws lift Lady Tigers to win

Makinna Gray converted three free throws with less than one second left on the clock to lift the Elba Lady Tigers to a heart stopping 50-49 win over the Arton Lady Cats, last Monday night in the opening round of the Class 2A, Area 3 basketball tournament, at the Elba High gym.

Elba jumped out to an early 7-0 lead on a 3-pointer by Makinna Gray and two baskets by Jaylyn Baker and was still in command with a 13-6 lead 3:58 remaining in the quarter when Baker added a pair of free throws. Arton's Alexis Johnson sparked a 6-2 rally that pulled the Lady Cats within 13-11 with 2:31 left in the stanza, but Makinna Gray and Nina Williams scored the final four points of the stanza to give the Lady Tigers a 19-13 advantage.

Arton opened the second quarter with a 6-0 run to catch Elba at 19-19 with 4:12 remaining on the clock. However, Nina Williams sparked an 8-2 Lady Tiger run that put Elba back on top 27-21 with 1:22 remaining. The Lady Cats staged one more rally late in the half, and led by the play of Zhee Oliver cut the deficit to 29-27 at intermission.

Arton came out gunning in the third quarter from behind the arc and with Lexie Willoughby and Alexis Johnson both draining long 3-pointers the Lady Cats used a 7-0 run to pull ahead 34-29 with 6:35 left in the stanza. Elba made a parade to the free throw line for the game's next three minutes and led by Jaylyn Baker used a 6-0 run to move back on top 35-34, only to see Arton close the quarter with a 5-0 run as the Lady Cats carried a 41-38 lead into the final stanza.

Arton owned a 42-40 lead with 7:02 remaining in the fourth quarter, but this time it was Elba's turn to rally and led a pair of 3-pointers by Nina Williams the Lady Tigers went on a 7-0 run to open up a 47-42 lead with 2:21 still left on the clock. A 3-pointer by Arton's Anna Kilcrease and three free throws put the Lady Cats back on top 49-47 with 16-seconds left, setting up a late 3-point attempt by Makinna Gray. Gray was fouled on the desperation last-second shot, and calmly hit all three free throws as the Lady Tigers escaped with the 50-49 win.

Jaylyn Baker and Nina Williams scored 12 points, apiece, to lead Elba, while Makinna Gray added 10. Zhee Oliver scored 14 points and Anna Kilcrease added 11 to lead Arton.

Elba (50): Baker 12, Williams 12, Tinsley 2, Purvis 6, Gray 10, Caldwell 8.

Arton (49): Kilcrease 11, Kirk 2, Willoughby 9, Allen 2, Oliver 14, Johnson 9, Jones 2.

Lady Tigers fall in finals 42-38

The Elba Lady Tigers fell behind early and never caught up last Thursday night in a hard fought 42-38 loss to the unbeaten and third-ranked G.W. Long Lady Rebels, in the finals of the Class 2A, Area 3 tourney, at Skipperville.

Jaylyn Baker and Makinna Gray combined for nine first quarter points to spark Elba, but the Lady Tigers hit only 7 of 12 free throw attempts, and watched as G.W. Long nailed three 3-pointers to open up an early 15-11 advantage. Baker added six points in the second quarter to keep the Lady Tigers within striking distance. However, the Lady Rebels never lost command and carried a 26-19 lead in at the half.

Tigers drop area tourney opener to G.W. Long Rebels 59-43

The Elba Tigers saw a 10-point halftime lead evaporate in a 59-43 loss to the G.W. Long Rebels, in the opening round of the Class 2A, Area 3, area tournament, last Tuesday night in Skipperville.

Elba came out ready to play in the tournament road game and led by a pair of 3-pointers by Alvin Henderson pulled out to a 19-11 first quarter lead. Chrystyle Caldwell and Kindarius Hill both scored five points in the second stanza as the Tigers went in at the half with a surprising 30-20 lead over the highly-favored Rebels.

G.W. Long picked up its intensity in the third quarter and the Tigers went suddenly cold from the floor as the Rebels used a 22-5 run to grab a 42-35 advantage, and the Rebels connected on 10 of 13 free throws in the final stanza to pull away and hand Elba the 59-43 loss.

The Elba defense tightened up in the third quarter and Makinna Gray scored four points to keep Elba close, but the Lady Tigers missed all four free throw attempts in the stanza and trailed 34-25 heading into the final stanza. Nina Williams hit a 3-pointer and the Lady Tigers battled until the final horn, only to see the Lady Rebels hold on to claim the 42-38 win.

Jaylyn Baker scored 15 points and Makinna Gray added 14 to lead Elba, while Makenna Long led the Lady Rebels with 11 points.

G.W. Long (42): M. Long 2, M. Long 11, E. Long 2, Whitehead 10, Payne 9, Hughes 8.

Elba (38): Baker 15, Williams 5, Gray 14, Juarez 4.

Elba Lady Tiger Jaylyn Baker goes up for a basket in last week's win over Arton. Baker scored a total of 27 points in two games last week to help the Lady Tigers advance to sub-region play.

The Elba Tigers lost one of their top hitters to graduation and their top pitcher to a transfer, but Coach Glen Johnson and his Tigers are confident a big season is ahead as eight veterans return to lead the team into the 2021 baseball season in perhaps the toughest 2A area in the state.

Elba will compete in an area with perennial state powers G.W. Long and Ariton, as well as cross-county rival Zion Chapel.

Elba returns two quality pitchers in John Martin Wilson and Collin Sauls, while the quartet of Conner Burrows, Peyton McCart, Paxton Wise and Carson Wise will combine to provide depth on the mound. Last season's top hitter Iverson Lane also returns to the line-up, along with catcher Whit Shehee.

Elba Lady Tigers return veteran squad in softball

The Elba Lady Tigers will field a team with seven returning starters this season in softball as they look to make a splash in their return to Class 2A.

Centerfielder Jaylyn Baker, a Gulf Coast Community College signee, will be the leader of the Lady Tigers when the season opens next week, while also manning positions in the lineup will be returnees Jayla Gray, Makinna Gray, Mikenzy Hooks, Breanna Sanders, Aimee Senn, and eighth grade pitching standout Ayrika Caldwell.
